“(a) take note of the analysis in document C(Extr.)/25/5 and the information provided by the Delegation of Serbia that it intends to:

“(i) amend paragraph 1 of Article 22 of the Draft Law on the duration of the breeder’s right, to read as follows ‘The breeder’s right to the protected variety shall expire 25 years after the grant thereof or 30 years after the grant thereof in case of trees and vines’;

(b) take a positive decision on the conformity of the Draft Law on the Protection of Plant Breeders’ Rights of the Republic of Serbia with the provisions of the 1991 Act of the International Convention for the Protection of New Varieties of Plants, which allows the Republic of Serbia, once the Law of 2009 is amended as presented in the Draft Law in Annex II, with no changes, and the amended Law is in force, to deposit its instrument of accession to the 1991 Act; and

(c) authorize the Secretary-General to inform the Government of the Republic of Serbia of that decision.

The breeders' right shall be granted to a breeder of a variety.

If two or more breeders have mutually bred, or discovered and developed the variety, they shall both have equal right to protection of breeders' rights.

If two or more breeders have independently bred, or discovered and developed the variety, breeders' right shall be granted to the first breeder that filed the application for granting plant breeders' right.

Article 5

With respect to grant and protection of breeder's rights in the Republic of Serbia foreign persons shall enjoy the same rights as domestic persons, if that stems from international treaties that are binding for the Republic of Serbia.

In the proceedings before the Ministry, a foreign person shall be represented by his authorized representative who has domicile in the Republic of Serbia.

II CONDITIONS FOR GRANTING BREEDERS' RIGHTS

General Conditions for Granting Breeders' Rights

Article 6

Breeders' rights shall be granted if the variety is new, distinct, uniform, and stable and if it meets conditions for giving the variety denomination, in compliance with the provisions of this Law.

Novelty

Article 7

A variety shall be deemed to be new if, at the date of filing of the application for a breeder's right, propagating or harvested material of the variety has not been sold or otherwise disposed of to others, by or with the consent of the breeder, for purposes of exploitation of the variety in the Republic of Serbia earlier than one year, or within foreign territory earlier than four years and in the case of vine and tree varieties earlier than six years before the filing date.

The variety referred to in paragraph 1 of this Article shall be deemed to be new if it is disposed of to others under the following conditions:

- 1) by a contract on the transfer of rights to the successor in title;

- 2) by a contract on disposal of variety material between companies related through capital, where one company is owner of another company, or between companies that are owned by third company, provided that the disposal is not for purpose of exploitation of the variety;
- 3) by an agreement under which a person multiplies propagating material of a variety on behalf of the breeder where that agreement requires that the property in the multiplied material reverts to the breeder;
- 4) by a contract on testing in trial fields or laboratory for the purpose of variety evaluation.

A variety referred to in paragraph 1 of this Article shall be deemed to be new if availability of such variety by the breeder is the result of presenting such variety in exhibitions officially recognized pursuant to the Convention on International Exhibitions, concluded on November 22, 1928 in Paris.

Distinctness

Article 8

A variety shall be deemed to be distinct if it is clearly distinguishable from any other variety whose existence is a matter of common knowledge at the time of the filing of the application for the granting of a breeder's right.

In particular, the filing of an application for the granting of a breeder's right or for the entering of another variety in an official register of varieties, in any country or intergovernmental organization, shall be deemed to render that other variety a matter of common knowledge from the date of the application, provided that the application leads to the granting of a breeder's right or to the entering of the said other variety in the official register of varieties, as the case may be.

The Minister shall prescribe the procedural arrangements of variety distinctness evaluation.

Uniformity

Article 9

A variety shall be deemed to be uniform if, subject to the variation that may be expected from the particular features of its propagation, it is sufficiently uniform in its relevant characteristics.

The Minister shall prescribe the procedural arrangements of variety uniformity evaluation.

Stability

Article 10

A variety shall be deemed to be stable if its relevant characteristics remain unchanged after repeated propagation or, in case of a particular cycle of propagation, at the end of each such cycle.

The Minister shall prescribe the procedural arrangements of variety stability evaluation.

Variety Denomination

Article 11

The variety shall be designated by a denomination which will be its generic designation.

The denomination:

- 1) must enable the variety to be identified;
- 2) may not consist solely of figures except where this is an established practice for designating varieties;
- 3) must not be liable to mislead or to cause confusion concerning the characteristics, value or identity of the variety or the identity of the breeder. In particular, it must be different from every denomination which designates, in the territory of any member of UPOV, an existing variety of the same plant species or of a closely related species;
- 4) cannot be unsuitable for usage in the Republic of Serbia.

Where the variety is already protected in the UPOV member or where an application for the protection of the same variety is filed in a member of UPOV, only the variety denomination which has been proposed or registered in that other member of UPOV may be submitted within the Republic of Serbia by the breeder.

Prior rights of third persons shall not be affected. If, by reason of a prior right, the use of the denomination of a variety is forbidden to a person who is obliged to use it, the Ministry shall require the breeder to submit another denomination for the variety.

The Minister shall prescribe which plant species are considered closely related.

Proposing Variety Denomination

Article 12

A breeder shall propose the variety denomination in his application for the granting of plant breeder's right.

The Ministry shall inform competent authorities of all UPOV members on issues related to the denomination of a variety, particularly on the proposal, registration and cancellation of the denomination for a variety.

Competent authorities of UPOV members may submit their objections regarding denominations to the Ministry.

The obligation to use the registered variety denomination shall not cease after the expiration of variety protection under Article 23 of this Law, except where, prior rights of third person prevent such use.

When a protected variety is offered for sale or marketed, a trademark, trade name or another similar identification may be associated with the registered variety denomination provided that the denomination is easily recognizable.
